BARRIOS IN DANGER. STATEMENT OF HIS UNPOPULARITY BY EX-PRESIDENT SOTO

Movement on Foot to Overthrow the Government of Honduras and Form an Alliance--Only a Matter of Time. Sketch of Barrios' Life.

WASHINGTON, March 31--Information has been received here to the effect that a movement is on foot to overthrow the government of Honduras, and to form an alliance of the people of that country with the people of Nicaragua, Costa Rica and San Salvador against Gen. Barrios. The movement, it is reported, originated with Marco Aurelio Soto, former president of Honduras, now in New York City. Since Barrios' announcement of his intention to make himself "supreme military chief of Central American States," Soto is said to have been quietly at work trying to break the influence of Honduras with Guatemala. His negotiations have been carried on through a general of the former country with whom he has intimate acquaintance. The people of Honduras, it is understood, are opposed to Barrios, and are only waiting for an opportunity to break away from him. They are, therefore, willing to join the forces of Nicaragua in an attempt to overthrow their own present government. The Nicaraguan forces, it is asserted, will number 5,000 or more, and will cross the border line of Honduras and aid in the revolution, with the addition of portions of Barrios in Honduras. It is said an army of 50,000 can be raised by the forces which are allied in resistance to the pretensions of the president of Guatemala.

New York, March 31--(Re-Presented) Gen. Barrios is said to have been living in an elegant home at No. 8 E. Fifty-fourth street, this city. He is said to have been in the city for some time, and his only duty outside of his own residence is to attend to the affairs of his family. He is said to be a very interesting family, seems to be in the enjoyment of the happiness and civilization of his adopted country. When he was in a Washington dispatch the allegation that he was engaged in a movement to overthrow the government of Honduras, and to form an alliance of the people of that country with Nicaragua, Costa Rica and San Salvador against Gen. Barrios, Mr. Soto said: "It is not true that I am in any way connected with the revolution which General Barrios has instituted in Central America. New York is rather a distant point from which to conduct a movement of this kind in Central America. I have received telegrams from my friends, however, who, knowing my sympathies with the people of my native land, have asked me to go there and assist them. It is impossible to say now what I will do. I am waiting for further advice by mail. The only way to know what I will do is to go there and see for myself. I go or stay. There are enough inaccuracies in the dispatch you have shown me to warrant something of a statement of the case from myself.

"Gen. Barrios, as you know, has issued a decree declaring himself as head of the United Republics, but Nicaragua, Costa Rica and San Salvador have declared against the decree, and drawn up an alliance to oppose him. The people of Honduras, who have accepted it, are Honduras, but the feeling of the people, even there, is against him; their strength with the government of that republic rests in his influence over Gen. Lewis Bogran.

"Will Gen. Barrios' revolution be a success?" "No," he will ruin Guatemala in his foolish enterprise, and probably finish up by being overthrown himself. He is said to have an army of fifteen or twenty thousand, but San Salvador, of which Dr. Zaldívar is president, has not yet declared against him. The United States, which has accepted it, is Honduras, but the feeling of the people, even there, is against him; their strength with the government of that republic rests in his influence over Gen. Lewis Bogran.

"I was minister of foreign affairs at the age of twenty-five, before Barrios came to the presidency of Guatemala, and when he was elected he confirmed my nomination. I was at that time a request from the people of Honduras, which I had been educated, asking me to go back and assume control of the government. As the joint request of the governments of the other republics, all of whom had confidence in my ability to preserve the general peace among them, I accepted this office. That was all Barrios had to do with it. Of course I am anxious to see these young republicans assisted, and I believe that the government of the United States has an equal interest in defending her weaker states against the ambition of the present usurper.

"Barrios' scheme is not new. The five republics were subject to the same kind of about sixty years ago, when they established an independent confederacy, which was dissolved in 1858. Other unions, more or less intimate, were afterward formed, only to be broken in turn, and no further back than 1875 negotiations were fruitlessly conducted to accomplish what Barrios is now attempting by force of arms. His violent policy can obviously lead only to waste and bloodshed, for the other republics are diligently preparing to resist the Guatemalan invader, and it is not at all likely that Mexico will sit quietly by and permit such carryings on among her next-door neighbors.

"The wife of Barrios is said to be the most beautiful woman in Central America. He won her as one of the prettiest, by a general and sage. She was only seventeen years of age and closely imprisoned in a convent when he resolved to marry her. The time was ripe for their eloping. When the convent authorities refused to surrender her the ardent swain promptly threatened to batter down the walls with his field guns, the only reply being that he lost his fortune with the handsome, swarthy, dandy, the nuptials took place. Barrios is tall, with a high forehead, height, with broad shoulders and deep chest. His features are strongly marked with Indian characteristics. His cheek bones are high, his nose is straight and his hair straight and black. He has a finely molded head and a flashing eye. The oldest of Barrios' friends is said to be at West Point, N. Y., his father evidently preparing him to take the government when he lays down the reins of power.

In Guatemala Barrios has been an actor, though a somewhat benevolent one, and it is because he has done so much for the people of that country that he has secured a grip upon their affections. He has quarreled with the church authorities, but has done much to promote free common schools and the extension of railroads and telegraph lines.

Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica are striving to resist the advances of Barrios and Mexico on the north is leading an army to the boundary line of Guatemala, ready to march into the territory of Barrios if he proceeds to cross into Salvador, as he is reported to do. President Bogran, of Honduras, is the only sympathizer he has in the union scheme. Bogran is said to be one of the most popular of all the Central American states. It had a population of 1,253,467 in 1883, and a standing army of about 10,000 men. It is well equipped with military of war. Honduras is a rough, mountainous land, with a scattered population, numbers of the people of the country are of Indian descent. Barrios has a little force as a military power, the people being chiefly Indians and not living together in towns and cities, but in the mountains of the country he has a large number of cattle. Barrios must draw his strength from these two countries. Opposed to Barrios are the forces of Nicaragua. Of these, Salvador is the smallest, yet it is the most formidable. The Salvadorians are the most war-like people in Central America, and they are said to be the most powerful. Barrios would probably have an easy victory over Nicaragua and Costa Rica, but he would have a very difficult task in taking his last step, for Nicaragua is one of the most fortunate states in the whole group of five. It is entirely out of the reach of Barrios, and is happy in its situation, for the proposed canal is projected across its territory, for which it has received a large sum of money. The way is built. Costa Rica is the most southern of the states, and has always proved the most obstinate in resisting the attempts of military adventurers to consolidate the five countries.

"A number of motives are assigned to Barrios in his present project. It is said he covets the plottings of Nicaragua, and the fair prospects that country has of being made still richer by a large bounty on the right way across the country for a ship canal. If Barrios could now obtain possession of Nicaragua, he would receive the benefit of what he gains there, and to that country through the construction of the canal. It is most probable that this is one of the chief reasons he aims to obtain by becoming the dictator of the whole country.

"For many reasons the United States have an equal interest in opposing him, and bringing his campaign promptly to a halt."

South American Cable Co.

WASHINGTON, March 31--The secretary of state has received the following telegram from the president of the Central and South American cable company:

"The following has just been received from the superintendent of this company at San Salvador: The commander of the Colombian gunboat Buena Ventura, forced open the cable house of the Central and South American cable company at Panama. The gunboat is still at anchor at the mouth of the Panama river. It is uncertain whether it is cooperating with the national forces of Colombia or those in rebellion, but we fear further injury to our cables and interfere with international communication."

The dispatch was referred to the secretary of the navy.

The War Department has been ordered from Panama to La Union, San Salvador.

THE NATION'S CONCERN

"I CAN'T STAND IT, I AM GOING TO DIE!" CRIES GRANT, THE HERO.

The Old Warrior Will Soon Ten on the Fields of Eternity--Preparing for Death--Further Nominations to the Senate--The News.

New York, March 31--Gen. Grant's condition is quite critical. He is failing rapidly, and in the opinion of Dr. Douglas and the ex-president's nurse, he may not live more than twenty-four hours.

The sudden change for the worse in Gen. Grant's condition was a very serious matter, and Dr. Douglas and Dr. Shrady, who arrived at the house, did not leave it again until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It was said that Gen. Grant's sufferings were so intense before the physicians overcame them that he had to be held in by attendants.

"I can't stand it," he cried at one time. "I am going to die."

The physicians remained at the house until daylight. About 10 o'clock Dr. Douglas said: "General Grant has but two hours' sleep without further medication. He is now awake and is preparing to take some nourishment."

Dr. Barker declined to speak about the case. Dr. Barker was asked if it was true that the general was in a dying condition. "No, I think not," he replied. "He had a spasm of the throat and had great difficulty in breathing, and for an hour or two was in a pretty tight place. But he is relieved now. Of course, it has left him weaker. I don't think there is any immediate danger unless some casualty occurs. Of course, casualties may occur, but the general was quite easy when he was put to bed."

Acting on the wishes of Gen. Grant, one of his physicians will remain with him throughout the night, and there is a decided change for the better or the end comes. Considerable of the anxiety regarding Gen. Grant by some of his relatives and intimate friends relates to his spiritual preparation for death. The daily presence in the household of the Rev. Dr. Newman, and his long standing intimacy with the patient, is construed as placing him in the position of a missionary devoted to the special purpose of preparing him for the hereafter. In a statement of General Grant's exact religious condition, Dr. Newman replied:

"I know that the family fully appreciate the kindly attention of the press in telling the character and conditions of the general, and what you propose to write would be grateful to them. I am sure that there is with them, that the time has not come for such an article. A reasonable interpretation of the words of the general has not yet been stirred from his position of trusting in the goodness of God for his future, without trying to form explicit doctrines, or to explain any of his private beliefs."

Family prayers are now held by Dr. Newman--a thing never before practiced by the general--and he attempts at every opportunity, to turn the general's mind to religious thoughts, but it can not be said that Gen. Grant evinces any other sentiment than profound faith in God. He is really not in his physical plight and the nearness of his end, but at all responsive to the clergyman's intercession on behalf of his soul. The religious sentiment, however, is a spiritual matter, based on a sermon of St. Francis, wherein he declares: "The belief in the immortality of the spirit, has disturbed some of Gen. Grant's orthodox friends, who are thereby led to question some of the general's religious beliefs, which are to have undertaken. Newman himself asserts his utter lack of sympathy with spiritualism. He says that he is still a materialist, in spite of his religious beliefs, which some of the leaders of that denomination have traced him since his childhood. Newman is a religious man, and he accepted the pastorate of the independent church of the disciples--an enterprise in which he had the hearty support of Gen. Grant."

LATER--At 12 o'clock, General Grant, who had been sitting and reclining in a easy chair, was lifted up on the bed, when he was seen resting in a more comfortable position. He was not, however, interested in the firm which is publishing Barrios' book, called at the house and was met at the steps, and told of the general's condition. He did not enter the house. During the morning, Mrs. Grant and Mr. Jesse Grant went out for a drive.

Grant's condition is said to be precarious. No one is admitted to the sick room, except the doctors, and members of the family anxiously surround the house. Friends who called to tender sympathies were not admitted, the physicians asserting absolute quiet was imperative. The doctor will not give opinion, but every point is made to the belief that the general has but a few hours to live.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1885.

It is said ex-Senator Thurman will accept no office whatever.

The nomination for Marshal of Kentucky is expected to be presented every day.

Mr. PENDLETON has taken the oath of office and will go to Berlin in about six weeks.

EX-GOVERNOR FLETCHER, of Missouri, has been missing from home, in St. Louis, for over a week.

It is accepted at Washington that "undue application for office means exclusion from office."

Ma. RUBY ROY's case is resting quietly with the Secretary of State. His friends say that he will be appointed yet.

The indications are that a Collector of Internal Revenue will be appointed for the Lexington district some time this week.

The appointment of Judge M. J. Durham to the office of Comptroller of the Treasury, says the Nicholasville Journal-Courier, "makes all Kentucky glad."

The Ohio Legislature has adopted the constitutional amendment abolishing October elections and has ordered that it be voted upon by the people next fall.

STATE TREASURER J. W. TATE and State Auditor Fayette Hewitt are at Washington to hold a conference with the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in regard to Kentucky war claims and the ruling about State tax on whisky.

Reports from New York say there has been a decided change for the worse in Gen. Grant's condition. The General's family is very much alarmed at the critical and unexpected change that has taken place, and members are evidently preparing themselves for worse developments.

The heads of all the executive departments have appointed commissioners which are now instituting inquiries as to how to improve the service. It is settled that unworthy Republicans will not be retained, and it is expected, therefore, that in a short time a number of heads will go into the basket.

The Covington Commonwealth says: It is satisfactory to note that Congressman McCrory, of the Eighth Kentucky district, is in perfect accordance with the new administration. He says: "The President is the man 'we have long sought'; he is plain, honest and industrious. The cabinet is excellent and Democratic rule is going to be so popular that Cleveland will be overwhelmingly re-elected in 1888."

STATISTICS which "can be made to show anything," show pretty conclusively the sad fact that insanity is increasing in the United States. Among the crying scandals of past and present the treatment of the insane has been foremost. In New York a plan is soon to be adopted which will meet with general approval. A large farm has been bought near the city, and the Commissioner of Charities and Correction propose to send all their able-bodied pauper insane from the public institutions, who are harmless. It is believed that the work given them on the farm will tend to relieve their mental troubles, while at the same time it secures from them a portion of the expense of maintenance.

It is denied on the authority of Senator Camden, of West Virginia, that it is the policy of the Administration not to make any changes of postmasters in what are known as fourth class offices, unless there are well-attested charges made against the incumbent. He says that Postmaster General Vilas has told him that it was the intention of the Department to make changes in these offices just as rapidly as practicable. As soon as possible the papers on file will be looked over and new men designated for each office. The work is to be taken up by the Department in the first attention, the desire being to get rid of the Malone officials before the next October election.

GENERAL BLACK, Commissioner of Pensions, has decided that a mother can not be allowed a pension as a dependent mother and the accrued pension for her deceased husband for the same period of time. He says: "Upon a careful consideration of the laws relating to the subject I am of the opinion that when the two claims become united in the same person, making only one beneficiary, that person can not be allowed, either directly or indirectly, the benefits of two pensions for the same period of time. Such an allowance would be contrary to the provisions of the statute, which declares that the pension laws shall not be so construed as to allow more than one pension at the same time to the same person."

FATALLY BURNED.

Emily Flertien, an Old Nurse, Enveloped in Flames.

CINCINNATI, Mo., March 31.—A horrible accident occurred at 48 Longworth street, by which one woman will lose her life, while another narrowly escaped death. Mrs. Emily Flertien, sixty-four, widow, has been employed for several weeks nursing Mrs. Henry Berry, a widow, who was injured in a crash about three weeks since. Mrs. Flertien started to warm some camphor over a gas fire, when it suddenly ignited and quickly communicated to the old nurse's dress, and a minute later she was rushing screaming down stairs, her clothing in a fierce blaze. Several Italians living in the basement hurriedly tore her burning garments from her, but not until her body and face had been fearfully blistered. She inhaled the flames, and Dr. Jenkins, who was called, declares she cannot live. She lies in horrible agony on a couch in the sitting room. The smell of smoke attracted the housekeeper, Hannah Parrell, who hurried up the rear steps just in time to extinguish the flames or they caught the bed-clothes in which Mrs. Berry lay in a helpless condition.

WEIRD, FLICKERING LIGHTS.

Unearthly Shrieks, and Stalking, Spectral Figures.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31.—Great excitement prevails at Spokane Falls, W. T., over the discovery of alleged haunted houses. Last summer a young man named Robinson was brutally murdered in a saloon by a desperado named Mike Connor, who was arrested for the crime and is now in prison. Soon after the tragedy occurred the saloon closed up, and the building has not been occupied since. It is stated, on the authority of a number of responsible persons, that the building is really haunted. For a number of nights unexplained noises have been heard, accompanied by weird, flickering lights, and ghostly figures have moved through the deserted house. At first the citizens of the place believed that certain persons were playing a practical joke to frighten the town or to secure the owner and thus purchase the property interest in the building. But the confirmation of the opinion that there is something supernatural in these nocturnal sounds and sights, the strange affair creates widespread sensation and excites fear among the superstitiously inclined persons.

DISASTROUS FIRES.

The National Printing Company at Chicago gain burned out.

CHICAGO, March 31.—The four-story brick building on Monroe street, near Dearborn, occupied by the National printing company and Bradner, Smith & Co., paper dealers, burned.

The president of the National printing company is Charles R. McConnell, the well known theatrical manager. His company and the firm of Bradner, Smith & Co., were burned out in a similar manner about one year ago.

Bradner, Smith & Co. now estimate their losses will reach $300,000, their entire stock having been ruined. They carried insurance to the extent of $100,000. The building was owned by the Crozer estate, of Philadelphia, and is damaged to the extent of $10,000. The total loss will reach fully $370,000, total insurance apart from that carried on building, $230,000.

A Preper Popper.

CLEVELAND, O., March 31.—For several nights past the family of W. D. Hoyt, No. 31511 street, has been annoyed by a man in night clothes, who is supposed to be a preper. He is seen at the window. Mr. Hoyt went outside, revolver in hand, and seeing a man in the yard, he commanded him to throw up his hands. The stranger reached for his hip pocket, and Mr. Hoyt fired, shooting him through the heart. The dead man is a murderer, whose identity it is impossible to ascertain. Mr. Hoyt gave himself up to the police. He is a stenographer in the employ of the Standard oil company.

Miss Amanda J. Stokes, librarian of the soldiers' orphans' home, Xenia, O., died of heart disease.

Guadalupe Marrero, a farmer living near Caldwell, O., was killed while engaged in rolling a heavy log with a handsaw.

"FERRY AT THE GUILLOTINE TO AN SWER WITH HIS HEAD."

Indignant and Embittered France Cries
Out Against the Ministry—England
Follows Suit Over Her Complications—Foreign News.

PARIS, March 31.—The city is in a ferment over the rumors which have been in circulation for the past twelve hours to the effect that war will be formally declared against China. An active and vigorous campaign, on a much larger scale, will be commenced at once. The reports are not traced to an official source, but it is believed the ministry are becoming alarmed at the overwhelming defeat of the French at Langson. The closeness of the vote in the chambers Saturday after the debate on the Tonquin campaign have determined to adopt more vigorous measures. The reports of an impending declaration of war have caused a panic on the bourse. The bourse opened weak, and was vigorous in unloading securities during the morning resulting in a sharp decline. Rents are depressed, and show decided falling off. The Radical press published violent articles against the ministry, denouncing their policy, accusing them of incapacity in the administration of the nation's affairs. They say the cabinet should be asked to resign, and, refusing, should be impeached for neglect of duty. Rochefort's paper, Libre-Parole, is characteristic for the bitterness of its attacks on the government's Chinese policy, and says: "The Ferry ministry has gone from bad to worse so rapidly, that their further continuance in office would be suicidal to French and foreign interests of the country." The article concludes with a demand that Ferry be led to the guillotine and made to answer with his head for the innumerable mistakes of the administration.

Ferry Resigns.

PARIS, March 31.—There has seldom been a day of such intense excitement as this. As it draws to a close the feeling grows more intense. Mobs of excited men have been raving the streets all day calling down execrations on the government for its shameful Chinese campaign. The recent French reverses in China seem to have put the populace beside themselves with rage, and nothing less than the immediate resignation of Minister Ferry will appease their anger. At present writing a howling mob has assembled in front of the chamber of deputies. The crowd repeatedly endeavored to enter the building, and each time have been driven back by the military.

In the chamber the scene is one of the wildest confusion and pandemonium prevails. Members of the right are fiercely attacking the government for duplicity in keeping the country ignorant of the state of affairs until it could no longer be kept back; until a few loyal sons of France sent against the Chinese hordes had been sacrificed. The tumult on the floor is intensified by the occupants of the gallery, who applauded every speech against the ministry and interposed it with cries of "Resign," "resign!" "Down with the ministry."

In the midst of the tumult, Mr. Ferry rose to announce the decision of the council of ministers held in the morning. He was greeted with hisses from all parts of the chamber. Silence was finally restored, but the premier had no sooner concluded his remarks, than the tumult broke out again. The right almost in a body yelled "down with the wretch!" Hardly had the utterance escaped the lips of the former supporters of the government, when M. Clemenceau, chief leader of the radicals was upon his feet, pointing in the direction of the right, and denounced them as traitors.

A noisy scene was momentarily brought to an end by a motion of one of the deputies and they at once proceeded to vote on the government's proposals, which was adopted. The result showed that the proposals had been rejected. When the announcement was finally made Mr. Ferry tendered his resignation and that of his colleagues. This was greeted with wild applause. The chamber was then cleared.

Resignation Accepted.

PARIS, March 31.—President Grevy has accepted the resignation of members of the Ferry ministry, and is now in consultation with some leaders in view of selecting a new cabinet.

Immediate Action.

PARIS, March 31.—The council of ministers was presided over by President Grevy. He issued on a prompt and vigorous action on the Chinese question, and declared that nothing short of decisive and complete measures would satisfy the people. After an excited discussion the council decided to ask the chambers for a credit of 200,000,000 francs. It was also decided to mobilize two full divisions of the army, including four brigadier generals for service in Tonquin. Courbet's fleet will be reinforced at once by 10,000 sailors and marines and several more vessels.

Intimidation in England.

LONDON, March 31.—Much bitter feeling exists in both political and financial circles. Apparently well founded rumors are current that negotiations are in progress between London and St. Petersburg which may result in a peaceful solution of the Afghan question. At 1 o'clock tonight showed an improvement of one-sixteenth per cent. Other securities are firmer. No definite information is made public by the officials.

Pasha's Prison.

GIBRALTAR, March 31.—Zobeir Pasha, recently arrested at Cairo by the English authorities for alleged treachery, was landed to be detained as a prisoner of state.

Remains With the Flock.

BOSTON, Mass., March 31.—The presidency of Iowa college was some time ago offered to the Rev. Charles P. Tilling, pastor of the North Avenue Congregational church, of Cambridge. That gentleman has announced to his congregation that he has decided to remain with his people.

ROME, Ga., March 31.—A novel case was tried in the superior court here. T. B. Venable, a grocer of this city, posted a blackboard in front of his store with the words, "Dead beat—R. A. Welch—$6.25." Welch, who is a miller, at once entered suit for $5,000 damages for libel. A large number of witnesses were introduced on both sides. Mr. Venable pleaded truth in justification. The jury awarded Welch $250.
